

Jim Spiridopoulos--varsity assistant

Spiro is a retired educator/coach who moved to Hilton Head from northern Virginia several years ago. He played high school basketball for the famous Morgan Wooten of DeMatha High School in Maryland, and then played for High Point University in North Carolina. He coached basketball for 35 years as the head coach of high school teams in the Maryland/northern Virginia/DC area. He coached boys teams at DeMatha, Sidwell Friends, and George Mason High Schools. Then he coached girls at George Mason, Bishop O'Connell, Robinson, and Holy Child High Schools.

Spiro's teams won over 500 games as well as a State championship, 10 league titles, and 3 city titles. A number of his female players went on to play at colleges such as Boston College, Marquette, and Georgia Tech. Obviously, Spiro has a wealth of knowledge to contribute to the girls in our program.
